

COLLEGE AVENUE
BAPTIST CHURCH

May 8, 1992

Dear Fellow Servants,

It is my pleasure to recommend the ministry of Glen Aubrey. Glen helps churches take a fresh approach to establishing ongoing ministries related to worship and celebration services. That approach is called Programming Arts Teams. The key work is "teams."

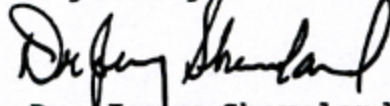

I have watched Glen disciple volunteer leaders and ministers to work together on the basis of the axiom "people are more important than product." The product is wonderful, but what happens in the lives of team members the real benefit.

At College Avenue Baptist Church, Glen worked with us to build teams for a new contemporary service as well as for our more traditional services. Our new service at 8:45 on Sunday mornings meets in our gym and began with over 600 people.

The teaming concepts Glen taught us are valuable beyond the scope of programming arts. We are attempting to use the same philosophy in our other ministry areas as well.

In encourage you to consider this very special ministry service. I am sure you will appreciate Glen's involvement as much as we have.

Rejoicing in Christ,

Dr. Jerry Sheveland
Senior Pastor

JS/jh